Early Childhood Programs

Lydia Adams Davis presents an educational and interactive musical program which includes sign language and movement, entertaining nursery, pre-K and early childhood groups. Lydia was a classroom music teacher for many years, and earned a Masters Degree in Special Education before embarking on her full-time performance career. Sponsored by Young Audiences and other arts in education agencies, Lydia works throughout the tri-State area with rural, suburban and inner city populations.

Children meet Unka Munka the chimpanzee, Beaver, and a host of other animal hand puppets. Younger children especially appreciate when they become "kid puppeteers" and join in the songs and improvisational dialogues.

Children love Lydia's original songs including, Be a Bumble Bee, My House is a Construction Zone, and Tadpole Song. "One Earth So Green and Round" is a frequently requested environmental songfest which Lydia offers solo or with her band. Presenters can chose the focus for Lydia's performance based on curriculum goals or special interests during a planning conversation!

Lydia has produced several CDs of original compositions for both adults and children. Lydia performs regularly at schools, libraries, museums and family events for audiences of all ages. Visit Lydia at her web site www.LydiaAdamsDavis.com
